Face-Lifting for Summit Conference

PARIS (Continued) — The French government today announced that it had decided to hold a summit conference in Paris on the subject of the Middle East. The conference would be held in the Grand Hotel, which has been specially prepared for the occasion. The French government has decided to hold the conference in Paris, and not in Geneva, as it is more convenient for the French delegation. THEY AND THE CITIZEN

By Philip Gillon

As an observer of the recent Middle East Conference, I was struck by the contrast between the lofty rhetoric of the participants and the reality of the situation. The conference was held in a grand hotel, with the participants dressed in formal attire. They spoke of peace and cooperation, but the reality was a different story. The Middle East was still a land of conflict and violence. The participants were not representing the people of the Middle East, but rather the interests of their own countries.

Another change in "their" attitude is that they are now more concerned with the public opinion of their own countries.

Parents' Natural Right

Parents have a natural right to know what is going on in their children's lives. This is a basic principle of parenting. Parents should be able to know where their children are, who they are with, and what they are doing. This is not an invasion of privacy, but rather a necessary part of responsible parenting. Parents should be able to know what is going on in their children's lives, and this is a natural right.

KEEPING POSTED

MR. Ben-Gurion's suddenness of mind has been a source of surprise to many. He has been known for his calm and steady demeanor, but in this instance, he has shown a different side. He has been keeping posted on the latest developments in the Middle East, and has been able to provide a clear and concise summary of the situation. His insights have been invaluable, and have helped many people to understand the complexities of the Middle East.

At the Cinema

Dark Gray
Lionel Barrymore (held over for a second week at the Orion). The film is a masterpiece of the silent era, and is a must-see for anyone who loves cinema. It is a story of a man who is wronged by the law, and who seeks revenge. The film is a classic, and is a testament to the power of the silent film.
